OVERVIEW

Whether it is a “bet the company” issue or a contractual dispute, our litigators can help. Our litigation experience is broad and deep. For example, we successfully defended a metal recycler against neighboring property owners seeking an injunction that would have put the company out of business. We have successfully represented shareholders in securities fraud litigation. Our business litigation practice is often on the cutting edge nationally handling the first class actions challenging banks’ charges in adjustable rate mortgages and in escrow accounts. We also repeatedly handle contractual disputes amongst vendors and suppliers.
