OVERVIEW

Dan Cory practices in a variety of areas including environmental compliance, transactional, complex litigation, and administrative law with a particular focus on environmental litigation and assisting clients in managing risks on environmentally impacted properties.

He also regularly presents on environmental topics and serves as an adjunct faculty member at Notre Dame Law School, teaching a course on environmental law and development, which covers both the specifics of Brownfield redevelopment as well as broader policy considerations where environmental and development interests intersect.

Dan also served as the primary attorney on a pro bono case that was litigated before the Board of Immigration Appeals and the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals.
