OVERVIEW

F. Ronalds Walker practices in the areas of products liability, toxic tort litigation, and primary oil production. Ron was the co-originator of the concept which led to the first and only successful case against a distiller for producing alcohol vapor causing the growth of the mold Baudoinia compniacensis, 999 NE2d 86 (Ind. Ct. App. 2013). This case resulted in a seven figure settlement. Ron has participated in a number of successful mold cases. He has also handled mineral ownership issues for minerals found in Indiana, Illinois, and North Dakota and often advises land owners.

Ron was associate general counsel for Citizens Gas & Coke Utility in Indianapolis from 1996 to 2000. He was also an infantry officer in the United States Marine Corp. from 1968 to 1971. Ron has long served on the board of the Indianapolis Legal Aid Society and he is counsel to the Marion County Fish & Game Association.
